Goals, plans, format

- Document each of our commitments to BWNW

This would be an opportunity to try something different. Each write our own job description.

"My commitment" , "How I use Beyond War." Decreases ambiguity. Gives us structure

- Each write what it means to me to be a peace builder.
Infuse Beyond War principles in our lives. It's all about the Golden Rule
- Owning the title "Community Peacebuilders" opportunities to be peace in community. Living it, being it.
- Implications for contemplation and considerations
- Implications for what we do
- What about a facilitator? Majority want facilitator.
Appropriate dispute resolution group? Maybe also recruit new members. Aileen would be good.. She worked on Hiroshima exhibit issues with UO.

Report re curriculum

- Working with other groups:

Scheduling talks in the Community:

- Kara's progress — and how can we support her work. Infusion of energy, new and different connections: UO, LCMS, Parenting Now, 90 x30, mindfulness parenting book person. How principles of BW can interact with all these groups.
- Approaching other groups: Parenting Now, LCMS, University, non-traditional venues.
 - Anne O contact head of 90x30.
 - Ann and Martin: Aileen and Stan Taylor,

Media:

- Look at what we accomplished this year.
- Do we want to have an initiative?
- Meet with new publisher?
- Peter Laffer re conflict sensitive journalism. VS polarizing.
- Could we meet with Steve Shankman and publisher?
